From the Editor

Happy Easter! A larger issue was planned for this week. It's our 2nd birthday! Happy Birthday to us! I left the issue clear to run lots of short stories for a short story contest. But, alas, not a single story was submitted. I guess I get to keep the $50 gift card that was going to go to the winner. (Or, I'll save it and have another short story contest later on.)

To make up for no short stories to read, I'm sharing some links to different author newsletters from some of our Pages of the Past members. Run through the list and see if there are any you'd like to go follow.

And on that note, thanks for stopping by and go have yourself a delightful Easter weekend!

Stay tuned for future issues –In the weeks ahead we have author interviews scheduled with Carmen Radtke, Florence Kraut, Alexa Kang, Rachel Zolotov, JJ Toner, Clare Flynn, Ellie Midwood, and lots more!

New Releases!

Mannahatta

Sherry V. Ostroff

Abandoning the ship was risky. It meant Anna never returning to Scotland and reuniting with her daughter. Instead, Anna and her Highlander, Alain MacArthur, faced an uncertain future in colonial Manhattan, where they knew no one, except for an old adversary seeking revenge.

Anna's story would have remained unknown if it were not for Hanna Duncan's dogged pursuit of the truth about her ancient ancestor. But first, her journey will take Hanna and the man she loves through the Central American jungle, infiltrated by blood-thirsty gangs; the Scottish Highlands and a scheming family; and the glass and steel canyonlands of New York City.

Mannahatta continues the story of these two strong women living three-hundred years apart. They are bound by mysterious circumstances that slowly unravels an unexpected connection.

Author Newsletters

Following are some of the author newsletters available from some of the Pages of the Past members. Take a look and see who you'd like to know more about and go check out their newsletters. I know I didn't catch everyone that has one. If you have an author newsletter that I didn't highlight here, email me (texastrishafaye@yahoo.com) and let me know. I'll add yours to a follow up edition.

They're in no particular order, just how I went through my inbox and caught some from the posts in the Pages of the Past Facebook group.

Pages of the Past

Yes, every week I share the Pages of the Past link on Facebook at several different places. But if you sign up here, you can get it delivered to your in-box. It will always go there first, as I schedule to send to the subscribers first, and then share on Facebook when I have time to pop in there.
